

Listed below are comments that mothers of the baby have submitted to us via a questionnaire they completed. They contributed their thoughts and feelings in hopes to present valuable information to prospective fathers of a baby that will help them in understanding the situation faced by mothers of the baby and helping them to have a positive influence in the partnership.

Use the information below to help you “say the right thing” and learn what “not to say.”

Comments that were made that were negative and hurtful to the MOB:

My friend actually said, "It's a FETUS not a BABY." Nothing hurt so badly as to have your one friend deny the humanity of your own child.

When your partner tells you she is pregnant, do not say ““What do you want to do?”

Comments that were made to MOB that were helpful and uplifting:

No sin is beyond God’s grace.

I am glad my boyfriend wanted to be involved because it directly affected him.

He said:_"It's going to be ok. We will do right by this baby and be the best parents we can be."
